Why did Walter Machine Company Choose E2?

Walter Machine purchased the E2 system between 1999 and 2000 at a Houstex show. They compared the E2 system to another competitor and decided, "The competitor seemed interested in selling us modules instead of software that solved our problems," says Jeff Walter, Production Manager of Walter Machine Company. "The extras on E2, such as the "type it once" to use or "populate" the information, were just a few of the features that won them over!"

"Overall we are very happy and will not consider changing systems even if the competitor gave it to us for free!"

The Results ... So Far:

Jeff could not be more pleased in his experience with E2. He is especially pleased with how duplication errors on deliveries, or anything else, are nearly impossible to be processed. Later, Jeff went on to add, "E2 tech support is the standard by which we compare all others. That is to say that when we have a need, which is very rare, they are very responsive. Overall we are very happy and will not consider changing systems even if the competitor gave it to us for free!"
